

Annabelle Diot

Project Manager

Master Degree « History and management of the European and French cultural heritage” in La Sorbonne and a Master Degree in Modern History from the Glasgow University, Annabelle brings several years of experience in various cultural firms.

Her several experiences in the public and private cultural sectors in France and abroad, allow her to apprehend and implement different approach concerning the management and the valorisation of cultural heritage. She is very interested in the consideration of cultural heritage as a communication media. As a cultural heritage specialist in the communication field, she has a real capacity of positioning and branding cultural institutions.

Since joining Lordeurop, Annabelle has been collaborating in a few projects, from Maison de la Vache qui Rit to Civilization Museum in La Reunion and more recently the Contemporary Art Museum of Riga in Latvia as the authority contract assistant as well as for interpretative planning, marketing, business plans.