

BUDHADITYA MUKHUTY

Consultant

Budhaditya (Budha) Mukhuty is a Consultant at Lord Cultural Resources with expertise in analytical research and business planning. He delivers data driven insights and strategic solutions that help organizations make informed decisions and drive impactful change.

Prior to joining Lord Cultural Resources, Budha worked in a myriad of creative roles. He undertook creative projects as a photographer and film director, documenting stories for commercial as well as human interest. His editorial photography projects have found a home in reputed publications globally. He has also served as a public relations consultant, providing additional perspective towards the business and operations of nonprofit organizations.

Budha holds a BA in Journalism and Communication from the School of Communication, Manipal University in India, and an MBA specializing in Strategy and Arts, Media, & Entertainment Management from the Schulich School of Business, York University, in Toronto, CA