

FALAQ KHAN
Research Associate

Falaq Khan is a Research Associate at Lord Cultural Resources, where she supports projects through research, analysis, strategic support, and community and stakeholder engagement. She has a background in arts and culture with experience across communications, digital content, and visitor services, and has a strong interest in connecting people to culture through inclusive and meaningful storytelling.

Prior to joining Lord, Falaq held positions at ICOM Canada, Onsite Gallery at OCAD University in Toronto, and Peel Art Gallery, Museum, and Archives. Her roles spanned, social media and communications, digital content, and visitor engagement. She also contributed to exhibit planning and interpretive design at Women's College Hospital Archives. Falaq holds an Honours BA in History and Archaeology from the University of Toronto, a Graduate Certificate in Museums and Cultural Management from Centennial College, and an MA in Global Cultures from King's College London.