

JANET MACLEAN

Director, Human Resources and Knowledge Management

Having joined Lord Cultural Resources in 1997, Janet has grown and evolved her career at the company. Holding various roles over the years, with focuses in production, information technology, knowledge management and human resources, Janet possesses a comprehensive understanding of the company's operations and, in particular, its knowledge and technological resources. In her current role as Director, Human Resources and Knowledge Management, Janet is responsible for providing leadership, coordination, integration, and implementation for all human resources and knowledge management related functions. As a member of Lord Cultural Resources' Management Committee Janet works actively with Senior Leadership to support and ensure effective employment and knowledge management practices that strategically align with the company's needs.

Janet holds a Bachelor of Arts Advanced Major in Sociology and Social Anthropology from Dalhousie University and is currently in the process of pursuing the Certified Human Resources Leader (CHRL) designation. Janet also has international experience as a Project Coordinator. In 2003, during a work leave supported by the company, Janet worked as a Project Coordinator for Right to Play in Zambia, Africa where she developed and coordinated programs using play and sport as tools to foster child development within a refugee population.

For any human resources, knowledge management or information technology related inquires please contact hr@lord.ca and Janet will be happy to assist you.